In Siberia.

Owing to the sad interest attached to Siberian exiles, the word Siberia has called before the mind visions of dreary wastes of barren and uninhabitable soil, lonely steppes, gloomy mountains, long and rigid winters, icy winds and almost perpetual snows. We have thought of it exclusively as a land of severity and sorrow—the grave of human joys and hopes. But in reality Siberia is a land of some sunshine and some flowers, with a full share of the wealth and beauty of nature, and some things in its favor which greatly relieve the picture. It is rich in respect of the produce of the animal, vegetable and mineral kingdoms. An Arctic explorer, who has recently visited the country, says that it is capable of supplying an abundance of wares—gold, silver, copper, iron, graphite and coal, fossil ivory, timber from boundless forests, wheat and other vegetable produce from illimitable plains of the most fertile soil; in course of time wines from the warm Southern regions, furs from the cold regions, wool, tallow and meat from the grassy prairies, the meat preserved fresh by simple exposure to the severe cold of winter, and, finally, fish of the finest quality in extraordinary numbers. Such a certificate as this, we should say, must make the immediate character of Siberia, as "a Summer resort," and lift the ban under which it has so long languished.

A NEW GATLING GUN.—According to the London papers, all the most terrible and deadly weapons of war hitherto introduced appear to have been thrown into the shade by an improved Gatling gun, which was recently exhibited by D. R. J. Gatling to a number of experts, at the offices of Sir William Armstrong & Co. This weapon is capable of firing 1,000 shots per minute, and killing a man or horse at a mile range. The gun has a compact appearance, can be taken to pieces and easily carried about, can be applied to military or naval use, and the mechanism of it is simplicity itself. The revolving barrel has 10 compartments, into which, as they whirl round, metal cartridges drop from a tall oblong case fixed over the center of the barrel. At each turn of the handle 10 shots are fired, and their dispersion is accomplished by a sliding apparatus. The size of shot in different calibre guns of this class ranges from musket balls to half-pounders. By the use of this implement three men can do the work of 300 riflemen. A quarter of million dollars are said to have been spent in experiments necessary to perfect the gun, which is now regarded by military experts as a complete success.

Old Bonny, the remarkable horse of Col. John H. James of Urbana, Ohio, is dead. His intelligence was remarkable. He disliked to be hitched. He would always break the strap and then stand half a day if required at the post. He never wore blinders and when before the buggy would look to see who was to drive. He had a different gait for each person that drove him. With children he gave evidence that he considered himself responsible for their safety. It was the church bells that kept Bonny informed on Sunday. On that day he would turn to the right and go to church, and on week days turn to the left to town. When he wanted shoeing, an old shoe was shown to him. He went alone to the shop where he had been shod twenty years and returned shod.

A HAT ON IN CHURCH.—An usher in the North Baptist Church, on Christopher street, caused a sensation one Sunday evening. As the pastor, Rev. J. J. Brouner, entered the pulpit, he was shocked by a sudden outburst of mirth in the choir gallery. Two young persons, wearing ulsters and Derby hats, had been shown to seats. The usher was surprised when only one of them removed his hat. He waited some time for the offending head-covering to be removed, and then reached over the back of a pew and removed it himself. Immediately he discovered, as did many other persons, that the wearer was a young lady and therefore entitled to wear a hat in church. Above the noise of the organ's voluntary rose the involuntary mirth of many of the congregation.

A Sunday-school teacher asked: "What bird is large enough to carry off a man?" Nobody knew, but one little girl suggested "A lark." And then she explained: "Mamma said papa wouldn't be home until Monday because he had gone off on a lark."

The game of "Sixteen" is played at the front gate, with one foot on the bottom and both arms across the top, while she stands on the other side and winds a bit of blue ribbon around her finger, and heaps up a little pile of gravel with her foot.

All pure, sweet laughter is a sign of happiness, and happy people are much more apt to be virtuous than the unhappy. Be good and you will be happy is hardly a more valid saying than be happy and you will be good.

According to the spelling reform, ocean should be spelled "oshun," but it won't help sea-sickness a cent's worth.

A Sad Story of the Commune.

[Paris Rappel.]

After the taking of Paris by the Versailles troops a Communist officer managed to escape from the burning city. Having remained on the barricades to the last he had no time to change his clothes, and was consequently obliged to wander about the whole day in kepi and regimentals, with his sword dangling by his side. Toward evening, however, he fell in with a shepherd, good-natured almost to idiocy, and knowing nothing whatever of politics. The two men entered into conversation and at the end of half an hour the refugee incessantly haunted by the fear of seeing the gendarmes make their appearance, proposed an exchange of costume to the "yokel." Naturally dazzled by the splendor of the other's military garb, the countryman jumped at the offer, never dreaming of the danger he incurred in donning his companion's attire.

The exchange was carried out. The two men undressed, redressed and parted. The pseudo-shepherd made for Paris, wearing a blouse, canvas trousers and a straw hat. The real Simon Pure, on the other hand, calmly went on minding his sheep, presenting a rather incongruous aspect with the sword hanging by his side and the crook in his hand.

What might have been naturally expected to happen actually occurred. A patrol came across the unlucky shepherd, and asked him for explanations about his costume, and these not being deemed altogether satisfactory the countryman was taken into custody, and ultimately led off the Satory to go before a court-martial there.

The unfortunate wretch, who had no one to speak a word for him, either did not know, or was so dazed that he could not remember, his birth place, and, in the end, was sentenced to transportation to the Isle de Pins. Amiot, as the man is named, was accordingly sent, and, by August, 1879, he had not been pardoned. One of his fellow-convicts lately wrote to say that "Amiot was awaiting the termination of a punishment which he did not understand, and was expiating a crime which he had no thought of committing." Unluckily he was condemned for life, and whether since pardoned or not we are ignorant.

He may possibly be considered a dangerous character. Perhaps his very imbecility is taken for dissimulation. Be this as it may, his story, while it has, undoubtedly, a ludicrous side, is at bottom horribly sad and grave, and appears to us calculated to cause reflection to those who insist on the justice of repression and the necessity for refusing an amnesty.

DISPOSAL OF THE DEAD.—The Kamtchadales keep special dogs for the purpose of consuming their dead. The Latookas of Zanzibar bury their dead who die from disease or of old age, but make it a rule to leave those slain in battle to be devoured by wild beasts where they lie. The Parsees bring their dead to certain round towers called towers of silence, to be eaten by vultures, which make those towers their dwelling-places. The Moors lay the bodies of the dead on the ground, and piling prickly thorns on them to keep off the beasts, leave them to decay. The ancient Colchians suspended the corpses of men in trees, but their women they buried. The Gonds and Bhils of India burn their men but bury their women. The Zodas bury their children, the victims of infanticide, and burn all others. The Greeks used both burial and burning. Among the Romans burial was the earlier custom. Burning was not general till the Republic, but was universal under the Empire. The Egyptians embalmed their dead. The Mohomedans and the Christians both use burial.

Several young ladies from a college were visiting an aquarium, and an exceedingly pretty young lady, just budding into womanhood, stopped before a tank of blennies. One of the fish, happening to turn its head, caught sight of the unusual spectacle, and instantly rushed to the front. Other blennies, attracted by the sudden movement, turned round and followed, and speedily hundreds of them were pressing against the glass, and a row of gleaming eyes were seen, expressing intense and unmistakable admiration and amazement.

A writer in the Boston Transcript thus relates a tale of woe: "The young lady came and tried to sell me a manuscript story. 'My teacher likes it,' she said, when I repeated our usual formula of no space, no money, no time and no anything to her. 'Teacher and editor?' I inquired mildly. 'No indeed,' was the answer, 'she's a person of refinement and education.'"

An enterprising American shipped some wheelbarrows to Rio de Janeiro, and the natives filled them full of stones and such, and carried them on their heads. They said it was a capital contrivance and wondered how they managed to get along so many years without it.

"Is the howling by a dog always followed by a death?" asked a little girl of her father. "Not always, my dear, sometimes the man that shoots at the dog misses him," was the reply.

Learning to say No is as easy as lying, though many people do not know it.

Three Spinster Farmers.

"If every girl was as spunky as those two women you see in that here sleigh," recently remarked a farmer on a Main street sidewalk in Auburn (addressing a Journal reporter), "there wouldn't be so many useless do-nothings in the world"—and the speaker brought his goadstick down with emphasis, as he ran the remark against an exclamation point.

"What's the peculiarity of their case?" inquired the reporter.

"Why they farm it on their own hook—and farm it successfully, too," said the gentleman with the goadstick.

One of the ladies at that moment stepped from the sleigh, and lifting a bag containing a bushel and a half of beans, carried them into a store in which the reporter had business, also, and he hastened at once to interview the woman who was accompanied by a younger sister. She kindly consented to give the desired information, and, as an illustration of what women can do, we submit her statement:

"I am the eldest of three sisters. My father died, and left us a farm of one hundred and thirty acres in South Auburn. My brother spent a small part of his time with us until ten years ago, when one day he left us in good health. Before night he was killed on the railroad. Then we three girls were left to carry on the farm on our own account. The farm was first settled by my grandfather, who found his way to South Auburn by spotted trees, more than a century ago. The acres have always been in the family, and of course we are much attached to them. My name is Margaret Jordan; my sister, next youngest, is Deborah, and the youngest of us is Adelesna. Adelesna is in rather poor health. On me falls most of the care. I have to be financier, cook, field hand and barn hand. I have to stand the racket from pantry to cornfield—in sickness and in death. I nurse the sick, feed the hens, hold the plow, hoe the corn, harness the horse, shovel the soil—maid of all work, and do anything and everything on the farm.

"At first it came pretty hard on us, and we used to get very tired. As I grow older, it comes pretty hard; but I don't know why we haven't got on pretty well. We always pay our bills, and in good times have a little left over. Last year we raised about twenty-five tons of hay, 120 bushels of potatoes, nine bushels of wheat, forty bushels of oats, eleven bushels of barley, one and a quarter acres of corn, and a large garden."

"Yes," said a bystander, "and that is not all; for Margaret is a great florist, and has a wonderful flower garden."

"Yes," continued Margaret, "I love flowers, and we have a very good garden."

"Do you attend to all yourselves?"

"Well, about all," replied Margaret. "We generally hire a little help in haying time—perhaps spend twenty-five or thirty dollars a year for hired help. The rest we do ourselves. We have thirteen head of cattle, ten sheep, one horse, beside a flock of hens."

"Yes, and turkeys, too, for I bought the best lot of turkeys that I saw in this market last Thanksgiving Day, of Margaret," said the provision-dealer, as he paid out the cash for Margaret's beans, which she had just marketed. "I always make it a point to buy Margaret's produce, because it's always nice. Just look at these beans—and her measure always overruns. For instance, I pay her to-day for a pint of beans over measure."

Miss Deborah then began to stroke the big cat of the store, and remarked: "We have a bigger cat than that home." Obviously the three spinsters lavish their hearts' affection on the dumb animals of the barn, the henery, and the kitchen corner—and fortunate creatures they, to have such worthy mistresses.

So it seems that not only does masculine farming pay in Maine, but that farming in the feminine gender and in the nominative case also agrees with the verb "boom."—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

SOMEWHAT EMBARRASSING.—An amusing little scene is said to have occurred a few days since in the lobby of the Senate at Washington. Senator Baldwin was engaged in conversation with W. Livingstone, Jr., when Senator Blaine was seen approaching them, and Baldwin remarked, "Here's Blaine—do you know him? No? I'll introduce you." Turning then to Blaine he said: "Senator, allow me to present to you one of my fellow-citizens, Mr. Livingstone of Detroit." Livingstone, with enthusiasm; "Delighted to meet you, Senator, and glad to shake hands with the man who, by good rights, ought to be in the White House, and would have been, too, if it had not been for the jackass Delegation from Michigan." It then dawned suddenly upon Livingstone that Baldwin, at that time Governor, had been rather a prominent member of the aforesaid Delegation and the fact caused some incoherency in the subsequent conversation.

Quilp says, when he sees kisses between women it reminds him of two handsome unmatched gloves—charming things with their proper mates but good for nothing that way.

Knowledge without justice becomes craft; courage without reason becomes rashness.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 3d, 1880.

There is much talk now among the Democrats of an adjournment by the 1st of June. Republicans are very glad to see this spirit exhibited by the Democrats But they have dallied along, and kept putting aside the more important matters, until it is now hardly possible that an adjournment can be had by the 1st of June, even with the assured hearty co-operation of Republicans. The Democrats begin now to realize how the country looks upon their course this Winter. The Republicans have been anxious to hurry business along all Winter, and the Democrats have only delayed in sorry hopes of being able to catch the Republicans in some political trap. But it is evident that the Democrats see their blunder and will to the end of the session, do all they can to undo it. They may depend upon Republicans to help along the unwelcome "business boom.—Let us look for a moment at the condition and advancement of the important measures that must be attended to at this session. The Legislature, Executive and Judicial, sundry Civil, Postoffice and regular Deficiency bills are not yet reported. In fact they are not even drafted, though the House Committee on appropriations have done some work towards preparing them. The Military Academy bill is in the hands of Conference Committees. The Consular and Diplomatic and the Indian bills are pending before the House with Senate amendments. The River and Harbor bill is completed, but not reported to even the full committee. To sum it up, I may say, that so very little progress has been made, that the real, and hardest work of the session has yet to be done. Let us for a moment see what has been done. The ones passed, are the Army, Navy, Pensions and Fortification bills. To do this has taken five months. Now the question is, can the Democrats in a month do more than has been done in five months? They say they can if the Republicans will help. The Republicans have signified their willingness to hurry up, and now we shall wait, and see how sincere the Democrats are in their professions of reform in Legislation.

Major General Heintzleman died here on Saturday. He has been a resident of Washington for some years. He will be remembered as one of the leading Union Generals during the War, and has spent his whole life in the service of the United States.

The President has appointed Orange Ferris, formerly of the Southern Claims Commission to be Second Auditor in place of Ezra B. French, who died here last week.

The Presidential figuring at this time leads many persons to doubt their accuracy. Blaine claims on the first ballot, 333, Grant, 417, Sherman 238, total 988 votes. But there are only 756 in the full Convention. It is not known where the other votes are, and folks say they exist only on paper.

MAXWELL.

NEW PATENTS.—Dewey & Co's Scientific Press Patent Agency has received official notice of the issue of the following patents to Pacific coast inventors, for the week ending May 4th, 1880:

227,090, G. Aschenauer, Sacramento, Cal., vehicle spring; 227,278, J. Mailer, San Francisco, fire box for boiler; 227,233, A. H. Moore, Ellensburg, Ogn., machine for filling cans with meat, fish, etc.; 227,179, I. B. Robbins, Stockton, Cal., kitchen cabinet; 227,189, J. M. Thompson, San Francisco, ore stamp mill; 227,142, C. B. White, San Francisco, tube for surface condensors.

The Carson and Colorado Railroad Company filed articles of incorporation Monday last in the office of the Secretary of the State, Carson City. The road is to run immediately from the Mound House to Candelaria, and will be about 150 miles long. The officers are: President, H. M. Yerington, who is also General Superintendent; Treasurer, S. P. Smith; Secretary, D. A. Bender; Chief Engineer, J. Olliver.

Captain Sam tells the Austin Revellie, that representatives of the Piutes from different parts of Nevada, will soon assemble at a point on the Truckee for the purpose of holding a grand fandango, at which Naches, Winnemucca, Breckinridge and Princess Sallie will deliver addresses.

The N. Y. Senate, by a vote of 17 to 14, has passed the concurrent resolution to amend the Constitution so as to extend the elective franchise to women.

A number of persons are making arrangements to commence work on some of the antimony ledges which are known to exist in Elko county, Nevada.

Sacramento county is to have a Hall of Records. Plans have been accepted and the building will cost $24,000.

One of the festures of the Fourth of July celebration at Santa Clara will be a chorus of five hundred children.

The Senate has rejected the nomination of George S. Houghton as Census Supervisor of the Third California District.

Michigan instructed her delegates to vote for Blaine, and Florida for Grant.

Ex-Governor Irwin is in Washington.

OUR RAILROAD.

The decision of the directors of the Bodie Railroad to make it a narrow gauge road seems to us to be rather short-sighted. That it will save the sum of $250,000 in the construction of the road may be true, but it is said that time is money, which, if true, will prove that there will be nothing saved when calculation is made as to the time lost in changing frieght and passengers from the broad guage at Carson. The mining districts to be supplied by this road will require much heavy machinery, which should be put on the cars at San Francisco or New York, as the case may be, and be sent through with as little delay as possible to the point of destination. The delay incident to a change of such freight might damage our mining companies to an extent that would more than pay the additional cost of construction. If it is the intention of the Directors of this road to extend it to the Colorado, we should think it more important that it should be the regular guage. However, it is none of our chicken pie, and if it suits the owners and projectors of it, outsiders ought to be satisfied to get even a narrow guage.

CONGRESSIONAL.—The following business was transacted in the House on Monday last:

Horace Davis introduced a bill to authorize the Secretary of War to allow the city authorities the use of some island in San Francisco Bay for quarantine purposes, under such restrictions as he may deem proper to prescribe.

Delegate Downey of Wyoming introduced a bill requiring Superintendents of the Mints and assay officers to make assays free of charge for any mineral claim owner or locator who sends with his ore a certificate from the Recorder of the mining district that he is unable to bear the expense.

Representative Daggett introduced a bill to make all railroad lands subject to local taxation, by requiring them to be surveyed and patented, whether the companies apply for patents or not The bill contemplates future appropriations to defray the cost of these surveys, and its passage will be urged as a preliminary step to obtain them.

ODD FELLOWS.—The Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. is now in session in San Francisco. The Grand Secretary submitted the following report of the Order in this State: Number of lodges this date, 271; increase of lodges, 6; number of members January 1, 1879, 21,303; initiated and admitted during the year, 1962; number of Past Grands, 4171; brothers relieved during the year, 2460; amount paid for their relief, $123, 360 85; amount paid for relief of widows, $16,238 71; total expenses, $322,163 85. The Grand Treasurer reported $1144 13 cash on hand.

NEVADA DELEGATES.—The Republican State Convention of Nevada met at Austin on Tuesday last and elected the following delegates to the Chicago Convention: E Strother and C. C. Stevenson, of Storey county; Dr. J. J. Meigs, of Elko; W. W. Bishop and M. D. Foley, of Eureka, and T. D. Edwards, of Ormsby, and instructed the delegation to vote as a unit for Blaine, and to use all honorable means to secure his nomination, so long as his name is before the Convention. This makes a "solid Pacific coast" for Blaine.

WILL COMMENCE.—Work on the Bodie Railroad, to be known as the Carson and Colorado Railroad, will be commenced on the 1st of June.

The annual graduating exercises of the State Normal School takes place May 19th and 20th, at San Jose. There will be forty graduates.

STATE CONVENTIONS.—The Republicans will hold their State Conventions in Illinois on Wednesday next, and in Colorado on the 29th. The Illinois Convention will have an important bearing on the contest between Blaine and Grant, and its proceedings will be watched with interest by the Republicans.

So great has been the destruction of the forests about Leadville, Col., that the future supply for mining timber is becoming a serious subject. Already that obtained has to be hauled long distances, and the cost is becoming a great drawback. A Leadville paper says that a good timber ranch will soon be as valuable as a mine.

The Santa Rosa Republican says: There is plenty of good and cheap fruit land to be had within ten miles of Santa Rosa for $10 an acre, but it is rough and will require work to subdue it. The only disadvantage is its remoteness from places of amusement.

Superintendent of State Printing J. D. Young issued a neat volume of amendments to the Codes, passed by the late Legislature. This is quick work.

The Workingmen's Convention will meet in San Francisco on Tuesday next. The object is to elect delegates to their National Convention to be held in Chicago in June.

IN EFFECT.—The County Government Bill passed by the late Legislature goes into operation at 12 o'clock M. on July 1, 1880.

THE CHRONICLE.

BODIE, MAY 15, 1880.

Office.—The Chronicle office is on the second floor of "Goodson's Building," east side of Main street, between Standard Avenue and Green street.

Job Printing.—Job printing of the finest description will be furnished at this office at Sacramento prices.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Pioneer Meeting.—The regular monthly meeting of the Pioneers was held on Tuesday evening. But little business was transacted. J. F. Kirgan was elected Treasurer, J. N. Harrison tendered his resignation as Secretary as he supposed being absent from the city for the next two months, but the Society refused to accept it. As Brother Parkinson, of the Carson Tribune, and B. Fred. Brooks, of Mammoth, formerly of Carson, was present, the meeting gradually resolved itself into a sort of a love feast, and an enjoyable evening was passed. The best of feeling prevailed, and there is a determination to weed the organization of all who have not, or do not, comply with the by-laws by the time of the next monthly meeting.

Fire.—About 10:30 on Wednesday morning the fire bell turned out our citizens pell mell to find the Central Market on Maine street, opposite King, on fire. The heavy smoke betokened that work must be done, to prevent a large fire, but our fire companies, excepting the Hook & Ladder Company, were prompt and the fire was extinguished without much damage being done, and could have been put out much sooner had there been a head to the fire department, but, on the contrary, every body seemed to be "boss;" and that there was not a large conflagration was not on account of good management.

Lone Raven.—Our people were startled about 8 o'clock on Thursday evening by a loud report, as if from an explosion in the rear of Page, Wheaton & Co's block, to which locality a rush was made, but diligent search by Constable Stebbens, and other officers failed to discover the cause of the explosion, but we learned from a gentleman who saw it that it was from a shotgun in the hands of a man in the rear of the block mentioned, and not from a giant cartridge.

Personal.—J. S. Luty, Secretary of the Con. Pacific, has been doing Bodie this week.

Ex-Governor Blasdell and Col. Blasdell are in town.

Postmaster Putnam has gone to the Bay.

We regret to learn that Dr. Davison is going to desert Bodie, to reside at Aurora. Bodie is too healthy.

J. N. Harrison, Secretary of the Pioneers, and lately with Page, Wheaton & Co., has gone to San Francisco and Ventura, to be absent some two months.

In Bad Order.—Most of the trouble with Main street is the bad order in which the water pipes have been left by the Spring thaw, the pipes having been put down when the ground was frozen. A new break has seemingly occurred in the pipes in front of Miners' Union Hall, where the street is to-day well flooded. But we must speak well of the water works, as through this enterprise our city was undoubtedly saved from destruction on Wednesday last.

Improving.—The Standard promises great "improvements," and has commenced by making up a "business directory" to take the place of "dead" advertisements. It also puts its editorial under "New To-day." Its attempt to "bear" our mining interests, that never looked more encouraging than they do to-day, is acting the boomerang and will kill the Standard, which was taken by a slow consumption when the Chronicle made its appearance here.

Road Meeting.—A meeting of citizens was held at Justice Peterson's office on Thursday evening for the purpose of appointing a committee to act with the Road Overseer in the matter of putting our streets in good order. Hank Blanchard, Wm. Irwin and John Wagner were appointed said committee. These gentlemen have a big job on hand, but they are equal to the emergency.

What Next?—Now that Main street is to be put in good condition, what will our dailies do for items after the job is completed? While the work progresses it will be as prolific of items as the "three-wheeled wagon" on the Sacramento Plaza was to the small boy of that city in olden times.

Spiked.—The Board of Supervisors having donated the Bodie portion of the road tax to the improvement of Main street, one of the big guns of the Morning News has been effectually spiked.

Stages.—The stages are now making good time—coming in from 7 to 7:30 every morning. The fine weather we are now enjoying is putting the roads in good condition.

A Rest.—We presume that the outside press will give Bodie a rest, now that Lundy is starting to make a reputation for itself in the matter of shooting and cutting.

Will Hold.—The Superior Courts will meet on the first Monday in June and set the calendar.

Adjourned.—The Board of Supervisors, after a session of ten days, adjourned on Thursday evening last.

Money Drift.—The Board of Supervisors allowed bills amounting to $6,132 45.

Elections.—The Annual Meetings of the Big Meadows and Bodie WagonRoad, and East Walker River Wagon Road Companies were held on the 3d instant. The former elected the following officers: President, N. B. Hunnewill; Vice President, J. C. Murphy; Trustees, G. B. Day Jesse M. Summers, D. Jeffreys, W. T. Elliott, and D. Hays; Secretary, D. Jeffreys; Treasurer, D. Hays. The latter elected the following: President, N. B. Hunnewill; Vice President, J. C. Murphy; Trustees, N. B. Hunnewill, J. C. Murphy, J. N. Summers, D. Jeffreys and D. Hays; Secretary, D. Jeffreys; Treasurer, D. Hays.

"Art Preservative."—The "Typographical Union," of Bodie, may be disgusted when we say that the compositors in the Union office are a young lady of sixteen years and three girls of twelve; that this is the first printing office they were in, and that the former set the proceedings of the Board of Supervisors, and one of the latter the locals. It is natural that the typos should have a huge disgust, for why should woman take the bread out of a man's mouth.

Its Cost.—We now have an opportunity to realize the luxury of having an additional Superior Judge. A new Court room, Chambers, furniture, attendance, books, blanks, etc., amounting to about $5,000 per year, is more than was bargained for.

New Court Room.—The room over Supervisor Loose's saloon has been rented at $40 per month as a Court room for Superior Judge Wiggin; also a room at Allen's Hotel for Chambers.

Something New.—The board for jurors in civil cases to be a charge upon the county! A couple of bills were presented to the Board of Supervisors, in the Seehorn case. They were rejected.

County Treasury.—The official count on the 5th instant, showed that there ought to have been, and was, the sum of $22,898 53 in the County Treasury.

Accident.—On Saturday evening last, Mrs. Dr. Summers, of Bodie, fell from the step of Charles Waterman's residence in this town, and broke her right ankle.

Clear.—The toll road between Bodie and Bridgeport is clear of snow, and in good condition.

Expert.—County Clerk Miller has been appointed an expert to examine the county books from 1875 to 1880.

Examining Physician.—Doctor D. L. Deal has been appointed an examining physician to visit the Hospital.

Transferred.—The balance in the Road Interest Fund, amounting to $784 65 has been transferred to the General Fund.

Antelope Road Open.—This road is open for travel, and is in good condition.

Shooting at Lundy.—The Mill Creek country is coming to the front quite briskly as a shooting camp. On Tuesday afternoon a shooting scrape occurred at Lundy between Pat Tallant and Frank Morton, in which Tallant was shot in the hip, the ball running around to near the spine. The ball was extracted by a friend. Morton was arrested by Constable Maestretti.

On Wednesday evening another shooting and cutting affray occurred in the same town, between Jim Slack and John Clark in Rabjohn's saloon. The men had a quarrel, when Clark drew his pistol and attempted to fire it, but Slack was too quick for him, and shot him, when they grappled and Slack drew a knife and cut him on the face and left side. Clark was shot in the breast and wrist, and it is thought his wound will prove fatal. The new camp will be well advertised this Summer, if it continues business in this lively way.

Religious.—Rev. G. B. Hinkle will hold divine services in Odd Fellows' Hall, tomorrow at 11 o'clock A. M. and 7½ o'clock P. M. Sabbath School at 2 P. M. All are cordially invited to attend.

Divine Service is held in Miners' Union Hall every Sunday morning at 10 A. M. by Rev. I. M. Cassin, Catholic Priest.

Fresh Candies.—For fresh candies go to Mrs. Swan's confectionery store in Abbot's building on Main street, between Standard Avenue and Mill street. She keeps the finest French candies and homemade molasses candy.

Just Received.—Choice, Creamy Butter in rolls, from one of the best California dairies at Point Reyes. For sale by Page, Wheaton & Co., dealer in choice family groceries.

Fine Display.—L. Hollander has a fine display of rich jewelry in his show window and cases. He has some magnificent setsy and diamond lockets that are "perfectly lovely."

Married.

Kinney—At Valley View, Mono county, May 7th, Emma, wife of George S. Kinney, and daughter of Jesse M. Summers, aged 19 years.

THE CHRONICLE

LABOR LOST.—A good man, conspicuous for his helpful interest in the young, occupied the pulpit of the Unitarian Church in Northampton, on a recent Sunday. His heart was gladdened by the sight of an array of bright-looking boys on some front seats. The speaker talked at those boys with genuine enthusiasm, his ardor arising at the seeming quick response which his earnest words met in the brightened eyes and attentive attitude of the chosen objects of his personal application of most wholesome truth. The preacher was a little puzzled for the moment to note the unseemly levity of some of the congregation, but his burning zeal was not quenched, and he drove the truth clean home with sledge-hammer blows. Going out of the sanctuary, the visiting brother, still glowing with the pleasant warmth of successful effort, asked the pastor who those bright-looking boys were on certain seats. "Those," said the minister, gently, "are the pupils of our deaf and dumb institute."

Judge John Rice was a very violent secessionist, and in a speech urging secession said: "Why, the Yankees! If they show fight we can whip them with pop-guns!" A short time after the war Judge Rice was making a speech at the same cross-roads where he had made his boasting speech before the war. One of the audience asked him if he was not the same Judge Rice that spoke there in 1860. "I am," he replied. "Well, didn't you say that we could whip the Yankees with pop guns?" "I did; and we could have done it; but they wouldn't fight us that way!"—Boston Transcript.

What cut him to the heart, far more keenly than her coolness at the sociable, wasto have her say in her note, responding to his demand for "his letters and photograph," that "Ma had traded off his letters for milkpans, the last time the peddler came round, and the children had nailed up his photograph in their playhouse in the barn loft, and she couldn't get it down." He wished then he had asked for it before. —Hawkeye.

The notion of putting a light inside the body, so as to see what is going on there, and to take remedial or preventive measures accordingly, is not entirely new, but it is very interesting. This is the aim substantially of the "polyscope," an invention about which a dispatch from Europe has recently been sent by cable, and which, it is asserted, will render an examination of every part of the human body feasible.

"I would announce to the congregation that, probably by mistake, there was left at the meeting-house this morning a small cotton umbrella, much damaged by time and wear, and of an exceedingly pale blue color; in the place whereof was taken a very large black silk umbrella of great beauty. Blunders of this sort, my brethren, are getting a little too common.

An old messmate of Capt. Sturling of the missing British naval training ship Atalanta says that the Captain, when a midshipman, was the fortunate captor of the famous Commissioner, Yeh, at the storming of Canton in 1858. He pulled the old gentleman back by his pigtail as he was diving through a window, and wore his watch as a trophy ever after.

Mexican herders stole all the eggs that Shaefer's hen's laid, at Webb, Texas. So he bored holes in several eggs and drugged them with tarter emetic. There were several very sick men in the neighborhood next day, and Shaefer was delighted; but that night he was mobbed, and so nearly killed that his recovery was at first deemed impossible.

Mrs. Rogers, of Columbus, Ga., was formerly wealthy, and among other property owned Laura Mitchell, a negress. The war freed Laura and made Mrs. Rogers poor, and for fourteen years the slave has supported her old mistress by her own slender earnings, and when Mrs. Rogers died the other day Laura saw that she had a decent burial.

There is a man at Luray, Va., who became convinced, when young, that kissing was wicked, because Christ was betrayed with a kiss. He resolved never to kiss anybody. He has been married twenty years, and is the father of eleven children, but has never kissed his wife or one of his offsprings.

A young New Yorker was introduced to a Boston girl, and before they were acquainted thirty minutes, she got so spoony that she called him an esterolepis, a Silurian placoid, and a cartilaginous vertebrate. He returned to New York by the midnight rain.
